“ There were many days we laughed and played, never thinking childhood would fade. God gave me to you for years to share. He knew you'd be the ones to care.

He carried me home in his loving arms on a star filled night. I said good bye as I watched them all shining so bright. God knew I needed rest and said now I could be the angel watching over those I loved the best.

You can see me in the sunny Keys sky. Watch me dance on the clouds as they slowly pass by.

Worry no more for I am safe, still watching the sunrise, only now, from heavens special place.

I know you'll feel great sorrow for me, but always remember I'm playing with you by every sea. So, grieve me not, we all must go, we'll meet again for sure, this we know.

Rest in peace our beloved brother.

You will live on in our hearts but missed greatly!

Jeanne

“ My uncle was always the kindest and a optimistic in even the hardest of times. I remember how happy he was to see me after so many years apart. He remembered things from my childhood that truly showed he cared. I'm forever grateful to have had him in my life.
