“ I still can't believe this is true I think this is some evil trick I'd look for your car sometimes I think that you're going to call things have been so hard since you've been gone I will never forget you from the first day we met 30 years ago I love you God bless you I'm so sorry for your parents I wish I had the ability and the right words to say to them but there is no right words to say you're gone I'm so sorry
